

Advancing women's land and resource rights.

Promising Practices in Gender, Land, and Extractives
 Roundtable
 November 12th, New York

Agenda

Time	Session	Topics	Speakers
9:00	Welcome and introductions	Welcome Objective of meeting Introductions (Name, affiliation)	Amanda Richardson, Resource Equity
9:30	Gender and Extractives: the problem and promising practices	Introduction: Summary of the problem, a review of what has been done, best practices, key findings from the synthesis report	David Bledsoe, Resource Equity
10:15	Tea break
10:45	Panel discussion	Case Studies from Peru, Ivory Coast, and Papua New Guinea: Promising practices, new ideas, ways forward	Margaret Rugadya, Resource Equity Violeta Vigo, ALAC Netty Dalma, ALAC Rebecca Robinson, Women in Extractives Winnie Ngabiirwe, Global Rights Alert
12:45	Lunch
1:45	Morning recap	Key themes that have emerged so far. Gaps? Challenges? Strong prospects?	Facilitated by David Bledsoe, Resource Equity
2:15	Breakout sessions: Translating lessons to action.	How can we use what we know to shape global practice on gender and land in context of extractive investments? What can we do to push forward on both the macro and micro levels?	Facilitated by Resource Equity and all attendees
3:30	Tea break
4:00	Next steps	Identify opportunities to help influence changes in policy and practice.	Facilitated by David Bledsoe, Resource Equity